Karger Supports Workshops in Basel about Systematic Review and Open Access

Next week, over 300 health information specialists will meet in Basel for the Association for Health Information and Libraries (EAHIL) Workshop.

Karger Publishers is the main sponsor of the European Association for Health Information and Libraries (EAHIL) Workshop that will be held in the Master Lecture Hall Building ("Kollegienhaus", Petersplatz 1) of the University of Basel, Switzerland from 17 to 20 June 2019.

More than 300 librarians and health information specialists have registered to join this multifaceted scientific program. Core topics are systematic reviews – the structured preparation of research subjects using analytic methods and tools – and other trends in the world of research such as Open Access.

Karger will host a systematic review workshop, a feedback session on the needs of librarians, and a presentation about Open Access. Karger Publishers is especially delighted to welcome the participants – such as a delegation from its scientific network in China and Taiwan – to the hometown of its headquarters.

"The direct contact with the participants is invaluable for us as a scientific publisher. The EAHIL Workshop offers the perfect forum to exchange ideas and insights," says Daniel Ebnetter, CEO at Karger Publishers. "We want to even better understand the challenges of handling scientific information in the health sciences. And we want to highlight what Karger has to offer in this area – for example the discovery engine Qinsight developed by our strategic partner Quertle."
